DECLARE ACTION IS NEEDED TO SECURE FUNDS FOR BATH HOUSE

It was brought out at the meeting of the council last evening that nearly everyone seemd to be in favor of the bonds for a public bathhouse, but there was no concerted action being taken by public bodies to see that the project was put over.

Councilman Garrard said many people did not realize that the bathhouse would not cost them one cent, that after it was in operation the earnings would not only pay the running expenses but would provide a sufficient reserve to pay the interest and the principal also. This is what the San Rafael bathhouse is doing at the present time, and Richmond has a much larger population to draw from, than her sister city.

City Attorney Hall said the only complaint he had heard was that the bond issue for the bathhouse should have been larger. People generally were in favor of the project.

Mayor Scott considered the bathhouse one of the best investments that the people of Richmond could make. The location was ideal. It was close to the tennis courts on the west side, and much recreation would be afforded the young people of the city.

Councilman Hartnett said there would be no trouble with the bathhouse bonds. He had talked with many and everyone, without exception, said they would vote for them.

Mrs. K. A. Cole, of the Grant P. T. A. said the organization had discussed the matter, and the members were heartily in favor of the bathhouse, and would do everything possible for the success of the bond issue.

Civic bodies generally of the city will be asked to interest themselves in the success of the bond issues.

Ripon Woman Dies After Auto Crash

Mrs. Rosa Costa of Ripon, 30, died at the hospital at Martinez yesterday afternoon of injuries she suffered Sunday night on the Franklin Canyon highway when an automobile in which she was riding with her husband and a party of friends plunged into the railing of a bridge. One of the bridge timbers struck Mrs. Costa in the abdomen, injuring her internally. The car was wrecked. Mrs. Costa was the only occupant of the car to be badly hurt.

Occupants of the car told hospital attaches that the accident occurred when their machine was forced off the highway by another automobile.

Mrs. Costa was brought to the hospital for treatment. The body has been removed to the Brunscher funeral parlors where an autopsy will be performed by Dr. G. W. Sweetser. No arrangements have been made for the funeral or an inquest.

Geo. F. Imbach Resigns From Fire Department

The resignation of George F. Imbach, as a member of the fire department was accepted by the council last evening.

The matter came up when a letter was read in which he asked for a leave of absence for three months, and if the council did not grant it, he herewith tendered his resignation.

Accompanying the letter was a communication from Fire Chief Lemoin in which he said he was opposed to the granting of leaves of absence to members of the department, for the purpose of trying out business enterprises. The chief further said that where the health of members was involved it became an entirely different situation.

There was no discussion on the matter, Mrs. Ogborn making a motion to accept the resignation, which was seconded by Garrard. All members of the council voted aye.

File Suit Against Bay Point R. Road

Asking for the restitution of approximately five acres of land alleged to be held by the defendant, the Pacific Coast Shipbuilding company at Bay Point has filed suit against the Bay Point and Clayton Railroad. Besides the restitution of the land the plaintiff company asks for $5,000 in damages.

According to the complaint on January 2, 1919, the defendant company came into possession of the property unlawfully and without right or title and against the will and without the consent of the plaintiff.

The suit was filed by Attorney W. F. Williamson of San Francisco who states that the property sought by the shipbuilding company is a section adjoining the present railroad right of way of the railroad firm leading into the shipbuilding property on which a spur track was started but never completed.

The Shell company, which has been using tanks on the Bullshead Point property for storage purposes, has begun transfer to its own holdings.

RICHMOND TO BE REPRESENTED BY MARCHERS; FIGHT LOOMS AT MEET

The best of Uncle Sam's man power will gather this morning in San Francisco for the parade featuring the annual national convention of the American Legion, and joining the delegation from all states of the union will be a contingent of Richmond Legionnaires marching with their buddies and later taking part with them in formulating a policy for the organization in its activities during the coming year.

At the opening session of the convention yesterday an undercurrent of strong feeling was plainly evident. While the activities of the day were mainly of a preliminary nature, getting the stage arranged for the action to follow this week, rumblings of several fights to be fought on the floor of the convention and in committee rooms were plainly evident.

One of the battles will center around the plea of National Commander Owsley that a measure favoring limitation of airplane armament be passed. Feeling against this measure is strong, and threatens to get stronger as the convention proceeds.

Applause sounded through the hall when Secretary of Labor Work in his address asked greater restriction of immigration and the deportation of radical aliens and reds. His plea was that the undesirable element undermines the political and economic life of the country, seriously threatening the Americanism that is the guiding star of the Legion.

The convention will fight out its battles in a picturesque setting, the Civic auditorium being decorated with all the flags of the allies and the delegations from the different states all being decorated in colors representing their state's characteristics.

The first real business of the convention will be transacted this afternoon when the delegations will meet for the formal opening.

GRANT PERMIT

After a week's investigation the council last evening granted the application of R. A. Wheeler for a permit to remodel a building on the south side of Richmond avenue.

This is a three story building and is known as "Fraternal hall." On the lower floor is a store room, and the two upper floors are lodge rooms.

It is the intention of Wheeler to turn the building into apartments.

Council Delays Action On Bay Survey Funds

No action was taken by the council last evening on the request for financial assistance in making a survey of the possibility of building a dam across the mouth of San Pablo bay, and making the bay a great body of fresh water.

City Attorney Hall did not see how the council could vote money for such a purpose.

Councilman George F. Black thought the project was of sufficient importance that time should be given to the question. He suggested that the city manager and city attorney get in touch with other cities and see what they intended to do.

Fire Mains Would Cost City $4,170

It will cost the city of Richmond $4,170 to have six-inch fire mains laid along South and Wall streets, so as to provide fire protection to the Pullman school and residents of that district.

This information was conveyed to the council last evening in a letter fro mthe East Bay Water company. It will be necessary to lay 1,040 feet of pipe on Douth street and 1,155 on Wall avenue.

The water company is willing to extend the mains if it is guaranteed 8 per cent interest on the amount invested.

City Manager McVittie was instructed to get in touch with the railroad commission, and ask that the necessary permission to have the work done, be granted.

Will Erect New Store Building

A new building, capable of housing five stores, will be erected at Tenth and Barrett in the near future, according to K. J. Henning who yesterday secured a permit to build the structure at a cost of $12,000.

The building will be a one story affair with brick fronting. It is classified under the new zone ruling.

Permits also were issued yesterday to K. L. Gillan, for dwelling on Seventeenth street between Roosevelt and Clinton at a cost of $4,400, with S. B. Roberson contractor, and to S. B. Wilson to make alterations of his house on Thirtieth street, between Roosevelt and Clinton.

Asks Court To Have Tenants Ejected

Suit to eject the defendant from property located in Richmond was filed in the superior court at Martinez yesterday by James E. Sullivan, as administrator of the estate of the late Eugene Sullivan against A. Anderegg and others. The complaint recites that a lease on the property held by the defendant has expired and the plaintiff asks for the restitution of the premises, $500 in damages and $165 in rentals.

BERKELEY MAN ON STATE BOARD

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 15.—Governor Richardson today ousted Simon J. Lubin of Sacramento, president of the state immigration and housing commission since its ogarnization in 1913, and replaced him with G. B. Ochletree, business man of Berkeley and president of the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce.

This action culminated a controversy between Lubin and Governor Richardson which has been in progress since April when the Governor removed Paul Scharrenberg, San Francisco labor leader from the immigration and housing commission on the charge that Scharrenberg was "lobbying" during the budget hearings of the state legislature.

Lubin at that time denounced the Governor for this move, claiming Scharrenberg was innocent of the "lobbying" charge, and demanded in an open letter that steps be taken "either to reinstatte Scharrenberg or to remove me."

'Lubin sawed th limb off between himself and the tree," said the Governor today, commenting on his removal.

His statement further said:

"I think the state is particularly fortunate in securing the services of G. B. Ochletree on this important commission. He is particularly interested in progressive and humane legislation and will bring to the place valuable experience."

Name S. L. Ligon On Police Force

On the recommendation of Chief of Police W. H. Wood, S. L. Ligon was adde to the police department as a patrolman.

Councilman Hartnett said he thought that rules and regulations, governing the qualifications of a member, should be prepared for the police department as well as the fire department.

Ccity Manager J. A. McVittie reported that he was at work on rules and regulations for both departments and would have them ready in a short time to submit to the council for their approval.

Held On Charge of Possession of Rum

Declaring war on selling or possession of intoxicating liquor, Constable M. G. Moitoza of San Pablo arrested M. Ross at the San Pablo coursing park Sunday, charged with possession of booze. Ross was brought before Justice of the Peace L. F. Grover and gave bond for his appearance.

Constable Moitoza has stated that all persons found at San Pablo with liquor in their possession are to be arrested and that steps are to be taken at once to put a stop to the selling of booze.

MEMBERSOFCITY COUNCIL PLAN TO CHOSE LOCATION FOR MEMORIAL

Formal adoption of the ordinance calling the special election for $150,000 bonds for a city hospital, and $50,000 for a public bath house was made by the council last night.

The bonds are to run for 40 years and will bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum.

Previous to calling the election a report of the planning commission was read, in which a site for the hospital at Grand Canyon was favored in preference to what is known as the Legion site.

This report was accompanied by a statement by Carol Aronovivi, in which he gave any reasons why he thought the Grand Canyon site was preferable.

The planning commission report was ordered filed, and then ensued a lengthy discussion among the members of the council, as to what site should be selected. It was the general opinion of the members that this matter should be determined before the election so that the taxpayers would know where the building was to be erected, or the project would be defeated.

Through a question that was asked by Mrs. Ogborn, it developed that the site offered by the Contra Costa Realty company, is not a free site as was generally supposed, but it is a part of the land that is included in the park area, and no deduction from the price which the city has agreed to pay, will be made.

If the hospital bonds carry the Contra Costa Realty company will deliver a deed to the land for the site, but the city will pay for it.

The Legion site is favored by the hospital association, which is made up of property owners, business men and physicians.

Councilman Hartnett said he was opposed to buying any more land at the present time, and though property now owned by the city should be used.

It was suggested that a roll of the members be called, and each one designate whether he favored the Legion sit or the Grand Canyon site.

Councilman Lane thought it would be better not to determine the matter at that time and it was finally decided that all members of the coucil will make a survey of the sites Saturday morning and then make a selection next Monday night.

GIFT OF THE DESERT

by RANDALL PARRISH

Copyright by A. C. McClurg & Co.

Deborah Gazed Frightened Into Those Dizzy Depths Below.

A sharp spit of fire leaped out of the night beyond the horses, accompanied by a dull report. The startled animals whirled and disappeared in the darkness, but Deborah saw only Kelleen, poised there on the edge of the chasm—saw him fling up both hands, clutching vainly at the air, and then topple over, down into those yawning depths below. She could not even scream, but some irresistible instinct caused her instantly to roll back from off the stone into the slight depression at its base. In the black darkness of this shallow hole she lay motionless, scarcely venturing to breathe. In her fright and daze she yet comprehended all that had occurred; the shot had come not from beneath, but out of the desert. Kelleen had been killed, the horses stampeded; she was unhurt, but alone.

It was all over so quickly the situation barely flashed through her brain, before a voice spoke, a voice familiar and hated.

"By G—d, that got him! Did you see how he toppled plumb over the cliff? That settles his spying on us, I reckon."

"Si, senor; but I would swear there was two of them there."

"You saw two?"

"No; only the one standing against the light, the Senor 'Kid.' I know him; but I thought he spoke, and sure, senor, there were two horses."

"Of course, he stole mine. I had a shot at him then; but there is no one else here. D—n you, look for yourself, Sanchez! This rock is clean as a billiard table, and there's no place to hide. Where the h—l do you suppose those broncs went?"

"We find 'em when the day comes; they not go far in the desert, senor. Where the 'Kid' fall—here?"

Deborah realized that the Mexican had clambered onto the flat top of the rock, and was peering down over the edge, while Meager remained on the sand, impatiently moving about.

"Well, what do you see?" he barked finally.

"Not one d—n thing, senor; black like h—l down there—he no live after that."

Meager laughed chucklingly.

"I'll say he couldn't; not even if he was a cat. There ain't no use our hanging round here. That guy is out of the way, and we'll pick him up an' plant him, after these others clear out. Casebeer's outfit must be through by this time. Go on down and start back. You paid him?"

"Si, senor; he never unload till I do; he what you call 'hard-boil.'"

"He's hard-boiled, all right, but by G—d, he's got to hold his d—n tongue over this deal! I'll go on down with you and have a final word with him. I'll tell that guy something he'll not forget. Come on; there's nothing more for us to do up here."

The frightened girl, crushed into the shallow hole, half beneath the shadowing rock, dare not stir for some time. The men might decide to return; some dim suspicion might enter their minds, causing them to retrace their steps. She could see nothing, her face pressed hard against the sand, and the sound of the two died away quickly. At last, unable to remain in that posture longer, she cautiously lifted her head and gazed about into the darkness. There was nothing to be seen or heard, and she finally struggled to her feet, clinging to the rock edge for support. It was all plain enough, yet she could not seem to think clearly, and her limbs were so weak they would scarcely support her body. Kelleen had been killed, murdered. Meager had crept up in the dark, and shot the man down in cold blood as he stood silhouetted against that gleam of fire. The victim had toppled over the cliff, and, if not already dead from the bullet, must have been crushed into pulp on the rocks below.

These facts came home more and more visibly to the girl's mind. She had escaped discovery as by a miracle, and yet to what end? She was alone, lost, without either horse or weapon to aid her in escape. Both animals had disappeared in the desert night, her revolver had gone down with Kelleen. But one slender bit of fortune remained—her presence there was still unsuspected. The man whose discovery she had most reason to dread yet believed her back at the ranch, hiding from him behind locked doors, but helpless to escape his return. How she had ever evaded his recognition was a mystery, yet, thank God! she had; and this fact alone gave her a slender chance.

Assured at last that the men had really departed, a measure of strength returning as she moved her limbs and faced the realities, Deborah crept back upon the flat surface of the rock, and gazed frightened into those dizzy depths below. It was like a nightmare, the horrid memory which haunted her of Kelleen's body whirling down through that glare of red light. But by then the light had faded, the distant fire having died down to red ash, and her eyes were unable to penetrate the gloom beneath. She stared into a black void, seeing no movement, hearing no sound. The awful silence and loneliness crushed her spirit.

What could she do? Where could she go? Not to those men there in the valley surely; not to Bob Meager, asking for mercy and release. He was impossible; her bitter hatred of him more intense than ever. To all the wrong done her in the past was added now this brutal murder of Daniel Kelleen—and suddenly, unexpectedly the girl realized what this last meant to her. She refused to acknowledge the truth, fought it back there alone in the darkness, yet it would not be altogether ignored. Daniel Kelleen was dead—gone from out her life forever—and there came into her heart a desire for revenge, a mad impulse to fitly punish the murderer. She longed to become the instrument to prove her loyalty to him by action. Yet how? What was it possible for her to do?

She stared helplessly about into the dense blackness of the desert, and up at the desert stars overhead, her mind obsessed with these questions. It was no longer herself so much as the aroused memory of him. She would carry on his work; she must at whatever cost. But how? The cavalrymen stationed at Box canyon! They were waiting for the approach of Casebeer's outfit, or else some word of command from Kelleen. They could not be far away over there—to the south he said, and he had pointed in that direction. The stars would help her to keep the points of the compass until daylight came, and then surely she could discern something else to steer her course by. She must go on foot, straight out into the desert; there might not be one chance in a hundred of her going right—yet the one chance was better than remaining there for Bob Meager to find her. She would rather die miserably in the sand waste than feel that wretch touch her again; God, yes, the kiss of Death would be sweet, compared to the touch of his lips. She shuddered at the thought. His wife! the subject of his foul caresses; helpless to repel his lust, his brutal bestiality. She would make the trail; she would go south. This was all that her mind grasped clearly—the soldiers were camped at Box canyon, and Box canyon was somewhere out there to the southward. To reach them was her only hope.

She stood up and studied the sky. She knew so little of those stars they frightened and confused her in their desert brilliancy, and yet she remembered enough to meet her immediate needs. The Big Dipper was easily found, and then the North Star. She must be right, for Kelleen had pointed over there, and the direction he had designated coincided exactly with what the stars told. She could not go far wrong if she kept that North Star at her back—she would be going south. A moment she paused, hesitating to take the plunge, a prayer on her lips. How lonely, desolate, black the night was; the very silence seemed to hem her in, isolate her from all the world. Then, with firm-set lips, the girl went forward, plunging her way through the sand, instantly swallowed up in the black desert.

She plunged on recklessly, desperately, hope dying within her as she advanced. Nothing could guide her now, or save her, but God's mercy. The soundless void through which she moved, the impenetrable black curtain enveloping her almost drove her mad. She could not fight the depression or keep her mind clear. The sand shifted under her feet and twice she fell heavily, tripped by some protruding rock, and left bruised and breathless. Her advance was blind, uncertain, and she scarcely dared turn her face forward for fear of losing the guidance of that one star by which she endeavored to steer. She was lost utterly, but for that, and, when for a moment her eyes strayed everything became confused, her every sense of direction gone. How long she toiled on, how fast her rate of progress, the girl never knew—the way was uneven, with unexpected depressions here and there, and ridges of rock projecting through the sand, and occasionally mounds she had to go around. Once she encountered a shallow ravine, stepping off into it unconsciously, and then crawling painfully up the opposite side, cut by sharp splinters of stone, before attaining the level again. For the moment she lost her star, but finally located it once more, and plunged desperately on.

Forty Will Attend Alameda Rally

Nearly forty members of the Wesley Epworth League have tickets for the Alameda Epworth League Alliance rally and supper, to be held at the Eighth avenue M. E. church, Oakland, this evening at 6:30.

This event has been looked forward to for nearly a month, as it was announced at a business meeting held at the College Avenue church, on the evening of September 18. From that time on it has been widely advertised by the executives of the local league, and the result of their campaigning will be shown by the huge crowd in attendance this evening.

The refreshments will be furnished by the auxiliary of the Oakland church. It has been reported that the league of this church has one of the best orchestras in the alliance and they have arranged to furnish the music for the evening.

A portion of the evening will be spent in songs and yells, at which the local delegation achieve great honors. Following the program at the table the group will adjourn to the assembly hall of the church, where the event wil be carried on, by a United States Navy officer, who will talk to the young folks on league socials.

Machines, which will be the means of conveyance for the local students, will leave the church, Ninth and Nevin avenue, promptly at 6 o'clock. Tickets for the event can be procured from the president, or at the door for 50 cents. Many of the elder members of the league will take part in the evening's entertainment.

Something to Remember

Real Good Gravy

Add a tablespoonful just before taking off the stove.

Don't forget KITCHEN BOUQUET, use it often—probably you have it in your pantry, if not, ask your grocer for it.

Musical Program At Wesley Enjoyed

A fine treat was given to the large congregation that gathered Sunday night at the Wesley Methodist Episcopal church, in the combined service of story and music. The story was read by Martha Fraser Geyer in a very effective manner and the music, which was above the average, was well rendered by the choir and orchestra, directed by J. E. H. and Miss Ruby Williams at piano. The service was not intended to be an entertainment, but the triumph of Christian faith in a wounded drummer boy and in the unbelieving surgeon. The congregation was intensely interested from start to finish. The music was not of a cheap sentimental nature but of a high class and quite devotional. The offering taken was liberal and went to the work of the choir and orchestra.

HLOD WEINIE ROAST

Members of the Pioneer Notcher organizations in Richmond enjoyed a big weinie roast at the beach Saturday evening. About fifty members gathered at the beach and songs, yells and stunts made the evening pass all too quickly.

The Notchers were guided by the Kit Crason club of the Point Richmond Baptist church. The leaders of the party were J. W. Deeming, Page Harlow, Clyde Parker, Merrill Giberson and Hugh Lancaster.

The Navajo group will stage an entertainment at the St. Edmund's Episcopal church on October 26. Page Harlow, leader of this group will be in charge of the entertainment.

Rheumatic Paralytic For Years Now A Well Woman

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 23, 1923.

For years I suffered so from Rheumatic Paralysis that I was unable to leave my bed. My hands and face were swollen and I had agonizing pains all over. My bladder and kidneys were in a terrible condition and I had pleurisy pains.

I had been treated by numerous medical men and had stayed in a hospital for many months, but my condition was not at all improved. A friend having urged me to try the FONG WAN HERBS, my husband asked their herbalist to call on me. We bought and cooked some of the herbs at home, and my bladder and kidneys were relieved almost immediately.

MRS. G. STAAFF

I took the herbs for about four months, and words cannot express my gratitude for my complete recovery. I am also happy to say that although I have taken no herbs at all during the past six months, I still remain well.

I gladly give my photo and this testimonal to the FONG WAN HERB CO. I know FONG WAN to be a straightforward business man who makes no vain boasts. I also know that he has relieved terrible cases of suffering. I have recommended numbers of persons to buy his herbs, and they have all been satisfied.

I live right here in the heart of Oakland. Anyone who really wishes to take the FONG WAN HERBS and would like to know more about how wonderfully the herbs have helped me, can obtain my address at the FONG WAN OFFICE.

New York Yankees Defeat Giants 6 to 4 And Win World's Series

NEW YORK, October 15—The New York Yankees today won the 1923 Worlds Series from the Giants by staging a batting rally in the eighth inning and driving in five runs. The beginning of the eighth found the Yanks on the short end of a 4 to 1 score, Schang and Scott singled and Hoffman walked, filling the bases. Busch walked and Schang scored. Ruth struck out. Meusel singled and Haines and Johnson scored. Dugan came on a wild throw and the Yanks won 6 to 4.

Babe Ruth made the first score of the game knocking a home run. Inasmuch as critics had picked McGraw's team to win the pennant, the victory of the Giants was unexpected. The temporary wildness of Nehf, Giant pitcher, was held responsible for the loss.

Richmond Eleven Plays Saturday

Grid warriors from Richmond high will have a real test Saturday when they meet the eleven from the Berkeley Deaf Mute school on the Richmond Nicholl field.

Richmond is at the top of her form now, having defeated the Tamalpais High school team last Saturday 60 to 0 and feel that the Berkeley school will be the next victim.

Football officials and experts in the Eastbay section, however, including C. D. Horner, member of the Pacific Coast Football association, predict that the contest will be hard fought, for the Deaf Mutes have been working hard and have a well working machine.

With the Deaf Mutes coming to Richmond the interest of the town people in the progress of the state institution in teaching our less fortunate citizens the way to overcome their handicap. It is not clearly understood whether the quarterback calls the signals with his ifngers or directs the play by gestures, but it will be interesting to see how the players will work.

Coach Hill sent in a number of substitutes against Tamalpais last Saturday after a substantial lead was secured and they all made creditable showings. It is the play to give the whole squad as much playing practice as possible to work up the teamwork and ability of the entire group.

Four Wheel Brakes Prove Practical Declares Kratzer

"Many motorists are proving by their own experience that four-wheel brakes are not only practical, but that they are a great improvement over the old two-wheel brakes, regardless of the size and efficiency of the two-wheel variety," says C. C. Kratzer, Contra Costa county dealer in Buick automobiles.

"Since Buick introduced four-wheel brakes on all models this year, many cars have been delivered and have seen thousands of miles of service. This service has only served to prove the claim of Buick that the claim that the brakes were complicated, subject to disorders and caused steering difficulties, were without foundation. General Motors satisfied itself that the brakes worked perfectly under all driving conditions before they placed them on Buick and other models manufactured by this company.

"Barney Oldfield has long been an advocate of four-wheel brakes, and has predicted that many makers will follow the lead of General Motors in adopting them. Oldfield points out that four-wheel brakes are not new but that they have been used by many European manufacturers for years, notably the Isotta-Fraschini, one of the most expensive foreign cars, since 1909. No less than 75 foreign car makers employ four-wheel brakes, he declares. The need for safety is the need for four-wheel brakes, it is pointed out by Oldfield, and he refutes the contention that the front wheel brakes make steering harder by the outright declaration that the contrary is true—that steering is made easier thereby.

"All that is necessary to prove this contention is to get behind the wheel of a new Buick and drive it under all possible conditions. We invite the motoring public to satisfy itself as many motorists have already satisfied themselves."

SEALS SCHOOL TEACHERS LIPS

The insiduous octupus, Politics, has so firmly enwrapped its tentacles around the public schools of California that teachers dare not expose it for fear of expulsion from the state service.

A California teacher has written Governor Friend W. Richardson the following letter, cautioning him "that if it were known I wrote this letter to you, I should never be able to secure another position in my profession in this state:"

Do you realize that one fortieth of all money paid by the people of the State of California for the salaries of teachers goes for attending Teachers' Institutes and not for teaching?

Do you realize that the children of California receive no benefit from the Institutes?

Did you know that county institutes are now merged in the meetings of the California Teachers' Associations, and that the teachers are forced to pay three dollars annually to this association?

Did you know that the state pays all expenses of principals and superintendents at these meetings but that the teachers, many of whom come hundreds of miles from remote districts, must pay all of their own expenses?

Did you know that these meetings are planned, not by the teachers, but by the 'executives' and that the programs are so arranged as to make important the leading personages of that forceful political organization which consists of the executives of the teaching profession? I hope that something will be done about this economic waste.

Did you realize that if I were known to have written this letter to you, I should never be able to secure another position in my profession in this state?

CHAIRMAN HULL, THE FARMER AND THE TARIFF

The farmers have exported more products of all kinds during the last three years than in any previous period in American History. This fact shows they have lost none of the world markets.

It is not the farmer who is interested in the war for American participation in European politics and free traders will harp on the profits in foreign trade to explain. Chairman Hull of the democratic national committee attempts to sidestep it in a statement in which he says: "They (republicans) point to the quantity of farm products while they keep completely silent about the prices, as though the farmers were interested in quantity exported rather than prices received."

It is not the farmer who is interested in the quantity—it is the international free trade propagandist, like Mr. Hull, who is interested in that and who has been yawping for months that the cause of low farm prices was the alleged loss of our European market, due to our "Chinese Wall" tariff and our foreign policy of absention in European entanglements.

The republicans have been telling the farmer about the quantity of his exports has little or nothing to do with his prosperity. If so, he would have been rolling in wealth during the last three years; he would have been in clover in 1921—the year our farm exports were the greatest in history.

The republicans have been telling the farmer his prosperity depends on his home market. It is a fact, as cold as ice; as tangible as grindstones. The record of farm prices for 30 years proves conclusively that they go up or down according to domestic consumption (not exports) and domestic consumption depends upon American industrial activity. This fact has been set down in black and white in an official report on agricultural conditions signed by such demorats as Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi and Joseph Robinson, of Arkansas.

Industrial activity in America depends upon American industries supplying American consumers. They cannot do this if foreign industries supply them. Every foreign article sold in this country means one less American made article sold—and that means the American who makes it is thrown out of a job. The proof of this is written indelibly upon the pages of American history. A democratic tariff has invariably meant industrial depression in the United States, unemployed on the increase, and the prices of farm products on the decrease.

Continuing, Chairman Hull complains that the tariff has prevented the law of supply and demand from operating in our international trade affairs—true, for which the American farmers should thank the republican party.

Were the American farm producer exposed to the law of supply and demand in international trade, he would be compelled to sell his wheat for from 12 to 20 cents a bushel lower than he is now receiving. He would be compelled to compete with New Zealand and Scandanavian dairy products which are now driving the dairy interests of England to bankruptcy because they can and do lay their products down in England at less than the English dairy interests can produce them—and Englands dairy interests are producing at much less cost than American dairymen can.

The Fordney-McCumber tariff is solely responsible for the fact that the level of farm prices in this country as low as they may be in many cases—is much higher than the level in other countries. Repeal the tariff, destroy its protective barriers, admit the flood of cheap grain, cheap meat, cheap dairy products and what would happen? The law of supply and demand in international trade, which Mr. Hull praises, would operate. American price levels for farm products would be beaten down to the foreign levels. Instead of the American farmer getting more of the foreign markets, the foreign producers would grab the farmers American market.

Mr. Hull and the democratic party cannot possibly persuade the American farmer to accept such a program.

D. W. Griffith's "The White Rose" At T. & D. Today

D. W. Griffith's newest screen production, "The White Rose," deals almost entirely with the South. The story concerns an orphan waif who wins the heart and hand of a scion of wealth and position. There figure also in the romance an opposite in the case of a haughty and socially proud girl of means who has much difficulty in discouraging the attentions of a youth who has been less fortunate and happens to be the son of a village grocer. The boy makes good and eventually wins the girl. A negro "mammy" and her arduous admirer pair off in contrast and afford the principal comedy for the whole.

Among the noted players who will be seen in "The White Rose," a United Artists release at the Richmond T & D theater today, are Carol Dempster, Mae Marsh, Ivor Novello, Neil Hamilton, Lucille La Verne, Porter Strong, Herbert Sutch and many others.

Drift of Bottles Aid To Navigation

The United States hydrographic office has just received two bottles thrown overboard by the freighter Steel Engineer, which are of considerable interest because of their wanderings. The two were thrown overboard from the steamer almost a year apart in two different parts of the globe. Both have just been found, and returned to the hydrographic office. One drifted ashore on St. Georges on the island of Bermuda, being picked up by beach combers. The other made its way to the southward and was picked up by Portuguese fishermen on the beach four miles south of Pernambuco on the lower coast of Brazil. Both bottles were thrown overboard in tests being made by the United States govarnment to locate the ocean currents touching the seacoasts on both the Atlantic and Pacific. The first bottle was thrown over December 8, 1922, and the last one August 10 of this year. The Steel Engineer is on her way to Oakland from New York.

The British merchant marine is co-operating with the United States in this work of current plotting, and the Empress of Russia, running from Seattle to the Orient dropped a bottle overboard in mid-Pacific May 21 of this year. On August 19, white prospectors on the Alaskan coast picked up the bottle and returned it to the government. It is probable that had this bottle failed to land just where it did it would have continued its drift until it crossed the North Pole or would have been crushed in the ice.

The oil tanker Royal Arrow dropped a bottle over in mid-Pacific but it was picked up by another ship after it had only drifted three degrees.

The bottle drift is an interesting part of the work of the hydrographic bureau and one full of value to seamen as by means of the drift of these bottles it is possible to plot out the ocean currents and to give their approximate speed. These finding are put upon the charts distributed by the government to navigators.

Comb Sage Tea in Faded Or Gray Hair

Look young! Common garden Sage and Sulphur darkens so naturally nobody can tell.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known down-town druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

Coast Baseball Season Finished

League baseball in the Pacific coast section ended Sunday in a halfhearted fashion, the Seals of San Francisco copping the pennant more than a week ago nad taking all the kick out of the last few games.

Splitting the doubleheader Sunady with Oakland, San Francisco finished the season with an eleven game lead on the nearest rival, Sacramento. Sacramento was three and a half games ahead of Portland, finishing closer to the top than the Senators have managed to get for some years.

With Sacramento leading the fielding average for the season and Salt Lake leading the batting average looks like anything can happen next year. In fact the dopesters are freely predicting that with a little new batting material for the Seals and a little better fielding for the Salt Lake and Portland teams and the Golden Gate club will have some fight to keep the pennant another season.

Oakland finished the end of the season with a spurt, taking the series from the champions from across the bay, but failed to pull into the the bay, but failed to pull into the division, finishing next to the Vernon cellar champions.

Talk is now centering on the outstanding stars of the year and possibilities of trades or purchases from the major league teams. Several of the new players have made strong bids for fame during the season and purchasers are expected to arrive from the east before many weeks.

Dustin Farnum in Bucking Barrier At The Macdonald

An enthusiastic audience greeted Dustin Farnum, the William Fox star, in his latest feature picture, "Bucking the aBrrier," at the Macdonald theater last night.

Again the vigorous star of picture romance scored a distinct success in this George Goodchild story, which Jack Strumwasser adapted for the screen. It deals with the trials of a northern miner whose closest friends is a victim of the cold of the Klondike regions and who leaves him, in a death-bed will, a large English estate.

The wanderings of a courseless Kismet takes Kit Carew (Farnum) from the rough, outdoor life of the Klondike mines to the finesse and polish of London society, only to hurtle him back to th erigid, pitless cold of the northern wastes, depressed and disillusioned.

But as the writer will have it—and all writers must—love finds the proverbial way toward happiness. The production is characterized by fine direction on the part of Colin Campbell. Arline retty is seen in the support.

The government has appropriated $20,000 for such a survey contingent on California providing a like sum. Industrial associations and individuals are collecting the fund and it is announced that securing oc Califorina's allotment is certain. The board, on request of Walnut Creek Post of American Legion, voted to purchase for $5,000 a tract of 1.09 acres in Walnut Creek as a site for an American Legion memorial hall. The purchase is to be made from Mary L. Burpee, Ruby Harlan, Sallie Sherbune and Maybel I. West.

Wifey's Birthday

It was her birthday. All day, "hubby" had been wondering if the present he had bought her a few days previous was going to please her.

Like most "he men" things of that sort gave him much concern. He appreciated the fact that he was somewhat clumsy in selecting something that would please his wife and at the same time be useful.

"I've either made a wise selection this time, or I've made a fool of myself," he muttered on his way home from the office. "I hope they haven't forgotten to send it, as they promised to do," he said as he mounted the steps to his home.

The next five minutes were filled with intense joy as he held wifey in his arms and she showered him with kisses.

"Oh, you darling boy' she exclaimed between hugs. 'You bought me the grandest thing in the world. Hubby felt mighty proud just about that time. He never before had seen his wife so happy—so charming—it seemed good just to be alive. Those happy minutes will live long in his memory.

The secret of her joy was the new Wedgewood Range equipped with the Thermostat Oven Heat control—a device which takes the guesswork out of cooking You simply cannot burn anything in the oven, no matter how long it is left there.

Tourist May Find Many Interesting Points About Bay

By GEORGE S. GRANT,
Manager Touring Bureau, California State Automobile Association.

In the San Francisco Bay district the motorist finds numerous attractions that will not only hold his attention for many days but are unique in their broad appeal to the different types of minds. Here the motorist who is interested in education will find two world renouned universities; the scientist will find the trip to Lick Observatory interesting and instructive; the literary inclined individual will delight in visiting the home of Joaquin Miller, and the metropolis of San Francisco with its Chinatown, Golden Gate Park, Mission Dolores and other attractions will interest every visitor.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA campus at Berkeley is one of the most beautiful university grounds in the world. The enrollment of the university has reached the highest of any school in the country, and the architectural advance of the institution has kept pace with the increase in attendance. The Greek theater and the new stadium in Strawberry Canyon are unique and interesting features.

THE HEIGHTS, the home of Joaquin Miller, the "poet of the Sierras," is now a public park of the city of Oakland. It lies on the outskirts of the city near the Skyline boulevard, and on the route to Redwood park. Here may be seen the monuments erected by the poet's own hand to famous men of history.

SUNOL is the site of the Water Temple of the Spring Valley Water company. Here San Francisco's water supply is aerated. It is a favorite picnicking ground for motorists, and lies on the route between Dublin Canyon and the gorge of Alameda creek.

MOUNT DIABLO is nearly 4,000 feet in height and is one of the favorite lookout points of the bay region. It lies for the most part in Contra Costa county and commands a more extensive view of plain, mountain, river and ocean than any other peak in the state. For this reason it serves as a base for government surveys for most of California. A toll road winds up to the summit.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY is located at Palo Alto on the main highway down the San Francisco peninsula. It was dedicated as a memorial to the son of Senator Stanford and is one of the most richly endowed universities in the world. The Memorial Chapel, the world-famous quadrangle, the museum and the lake and stadium are objects of interest and admiration to the tourist.

CALIFORNIA REDWOOD PARK lies on the Big Basin route to Santa Cruz. Many of the most perfect specimens of the native California redwoods are to be found here, and it is a favorite camping ground for motorists of the bay region.

MOUNT HAMILTON is 4,400 feet in altitude and is the seat of the world famous Lick Observatory. The great telescope is open to the public from 7 to 9 on Saturday evenings, but the observatory itself may be visited at any time. The road to the summit is one of the most winding and picturesque highways in the state.
